THE DAILY BULLETIN. FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 27, 1884.

LARGE conventions have been called and held in all of the leading cities and towns in the central and north-eastern portion of the State except in the city of Mayaville. Why Mayaville has never been able to secure an important convention we cannot tell, unless it has been for the want of some one to take an active interest in the matter. We know that Judge Wall, the chairman of our county committee, has been for several weeks, actively engaged in an effort to secure the holding of the Superior Court Convention at this point. The selection of Mayaville is certainly due to his efforts and our citizens properly appreciate that Convention at this point. The selection of Maysville is certainly due to his efforts and our citizens properly appreciate that fact. Lexington, Winchester, Blue Licks Morehead and Maysville were the contending places, and it was Maysville against the field, and while all the other places had sent committees of citizens to aid their chairman, Maysville relied alone upon Judge Wall, and we are all gratified at his success. To realize the importance of this convention we must remember that forty-five counties are embraced in the district, commencing with Gallatin Country and running across the State with the lines of Owen, Scott, Fayette, Exill. Clay and, Bell, and including all the counties east of them to the Virginia and Tennessee lines. Large delegations from most of these counties will be sent to Maysville, and, aside from the actual money that always comes to a city with a large crowd, the benefits of the associations and acquaintances thus formed will be valuable and lasting.

Speaking.

Hon. Thomas Turner, candidate for Judge of the Superior Court, will address the Democracy at the court house, tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. Turn out and hear him.

HOW WE MAY KEEP COOL.

HOW WE MAY KEEP COOL.

Some Seasonable Hints for the Benefit of Heated Hamanity. The temperature of our bodies, which normally is about ninety-eight and one-half degrees, is modified remarkably by our clothing, our food and drink, our habits, whether active or otherwise, and by the temperature of the place in which we may happen for the most important, yet little need be said of it for the reason that now is practically beyond our control. Excess of moisture in the air is said to and doubtless does make a high temperature more distressing, because it toolies in the form of sweat to remain upon the surface of the body, a circumstance that greatly retards the elimination of heat. Gentle currents of cool air are aggreeable and refreshing, because they hasten the evaporation from the surface. The body temperature is well-known and though we cannot control our movements at all times, yet by experience all will find that "go slow" is a very good rule to go by in hot weather—that is, when the temperature of the air sets upin more should complain.

The food and drink most suitable for summer use can be quickly named. Use a minimum amount of fat and heated food, but take carre to use the most more could milk may at time be substituted by every more representable of the day and the could milk may at time be substituted by every in no case be used together. The clothing best dappted to hot weather wear is loose carments of woolen fabrics, notably fannel. This for the reason that the material just named aids the evaporation from the surfaces of the body in milk weather.

A Cure of Pneumonia.

Mr. D. H. Barnaby, of Oswego, N. Y., says that his daughter was taken with a violent cold which terminated with pneumonia, and all the best physicians gave the case up and said she could live but a few hours at most. She was in this condition when a friend recommended Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs, and advised her to try it. She accepted it as a last resort, and was surprised to find that it produced a marked change for the better, and by persevering in its use a cure was affected.

LAUGHING BLUE EYES.

Thrilling Romance of a Cincinna Girl at Long Branch.

Saved From a Watery Grave by a Strange Young Man, as She Was Sinking for the Last Time, Who Then Disappeared.

Even Branch, N. J., June 37.—Loungers and bathers yesterday wasted with admiration as young girl who stepped daintily down upon the beach, about eighteen years of age, with sunny hair and laughing blue yea. She presented a pleasing picture. Her acquaintances who sat upon the plazars of the branch, Miss Millicent Nata of Chicanati, Miss Netta struck out some distance beyond the under the end of the pler. Suddenly the observers were startled by a scream. "Helpi I am siming," came to their sars and becoming exhausted. A cry of borror went up. Once more she came to the surface and again sank. A young mas several hundred feet from the drowning girl dashed into the waves. The crowd cherred and diving down arose a few feet away with the young lady clasped in his arms. She was still conscious. Many times the brave follow and his fair burden was submiring by came near enough to the beach for assistance to be rendered and daying down arose as few feet have the submiring by the submiring
